Subject: I'm Walking for Life on October 18 – Will You Help Me Support Moms in Puerto Rico?

Hi Family and Friends,

I'm excited to share that on Saturday, October 18, I'll be participating in the Walk for Life Puerto Rico, a special event to raise funds for Love The Nations, a ministry that supports women, men, and families facing unexpected pregnancies right here in Puerto Rico.

Do you know someone who's faced an unexpected pregnancy? A friend? A coworker? A classmate? Every year, thousands of women in Puerto Rico encounter fear and pressure when they discover they're pregnant—often without knowing where to turn. Abortion is too often presented as the quickest “solution,” but in reality, it can be a devastating and lonely choice for a woman and her unborn child.

That's why I'm walking. I believe every woman deserves a safe, confidential, and compassionate place to receive real help in the middle of a crisis—and that's exactly what Love The Nations offers through its Hope Women's Clinics and outreach programs.

Love The Nations provides:

- Free medical services, including pregnancy testing and ultrasounds
- Options counseling, mentoring, and emotional support
- Material support like baby clothes, diapers, formula, and more
- Bible-based education and healing programs, including support for post-abortive women

All services are provided completely free of charge, so women can choose life with confidence—knowing they're supported practically, emotionally, and spiritually.

I wholeheartedly believe in this mission, and I'd love your help to reach my fundraising goal of [insert amount]. Would you consider donating $25, $50, $100, or more to sponsor me in this year's Walk for Life?

You can donate online at my personal fundraising page: [Insert your FundEasy link here]

This year alone, Love The Nations has already helped save the lives of over 280 babies—and with your support, even more families will be reached with the good news of life and the love of Christ.
